Educational Matters.

The Annual School Meeting was held on Monday evening last. There was a fair attendance, nearly one hundred, including a few ladies, being present. Mr. David Oakes acted as Chairman and Mr. James W. Baldwin, Secretary. The printed report of the Board of Trustees was distributed and explained by Messrs. Polombet and Page. An election for Trustees was held, and resulted in the choice of the following gentlemen:

John Sherman, E. W. Page, A. C. Frisell, C. Polombet and A. P. Morris. It will be noticed that four of last year's board are re-elected, and that Mr. Morris takes the place of Mr. Baldwin, deceased.

Dr. Jos. A. Davis, Drs. Stubbart and Cox, Messrs. Turner, Thomas and several other gentlemen were in nomination as trustees. The meeting adjourned at a reasonable hour, a gentleman who wanted to get home early hastening matters by saying the lamps had been trimmed for a short session only.

There was therefore little discussion upon the Annual Report, of which an edition was printed sufficient to supply every family in town with a copy. We believe it is now in course of distribution. It should be read by all, furnishing as it does a large amount of information on our local educational affairs. It is a subject in which everybody should feel a pride and interest.

Several pages near the beginning of the pamphlet review the services of the late Mr. W. S. Baldwin, who had served the district as Trustee and Treasurer, unremittently and faithfully for a period of twenty-four years.

The Treasurer's Report shows a balance due the Schools on this year's appropriation of $3,175.58. There is also given a list of the teachers with the amount of salary paid to each. We believe the salaries compare favorably with those paid in the Orange Schools, and are rather higher than those paid in many large towns.

The monthly report of attendance for February is given in a tabular form, and from it some interesting comparisons may be deduced. Attention is made to the prevalence of unusual sickness among the younger children during the winter, tending largely to decrease the attendance in the lower classes. Making due allowance from this cause the average attendance is as great as can reasonably be expected, being about 84 per cent. in the higher departments. But from the "cases of tardiness" it is singularly apparent that the highest department, which we would expect to be a model of punctuality, suffers most from this source. The Berkeley School exhibits the best record for prompt attendance of any of the schools. The three higher classes in the Grammar Department of the Central school give a fair record. The following table gives, in a concise form, a comprehensive view of all the schools in this respect:

DEPARTMENT.	NO. OF SCHOLARS.	CASES OF TARDINESS.
High School.	28	31
Grammar, Ist Class.	29	8
" 2d "	23	16
" 3d "	44	14
" 4th "	47	26
" 5th "	48	29
Center Primary.	231	136
Berkeley "	81	22
Brookside.	39	57

The monthly examination for February, as published in the report at considerable length, affords a very satisfactory knowledge of what is required of pupils in the school. It is arranged by classes and again by the studies in each class. At the end of each study the highest per cent. of attainment is given as well as the lowest per cent. There are evidently one or more good scholars in each class, and, it would also seem, more or less dull ones. The fifth class in the Grammar Department exhibits rather more proficiency in this examination than the higher classes. The High School presents a first rate record in Geometry, but not so good in Arithmetic and Algebra, while Latin and English Grammar are up to a fair standard.

Indifferent scholarship is noticeable, in many instances, in the foundation studies of Grammar, Arithmetic and Orthography. These are the branches on which the greatest care should be bestowed. Oral drill in these studies is of much importance. Let a boy leave school at fifteen through in this particular, and he will have a foundation on which he can build a superstructure as he goes along. He will be able to do a creditable life-work, especially in this age of books and newspapers, from which so much knowledge pertaining to history and science can be so easily acquired. But bad spelling, botchy grammar and blundering figures are inexcusable abominations—defects in one's early education which are very apt to haunt him all his days.

But we would by no means overlook or slight the importance of instruction in natural science. Even the higher branches of Geology, Astronomy, Mineralogy, &c. should be taught in our Grammar School, for obvious reasons. There are children sent there whose parents can ill-afford to give them the time necessary to complete a regular course of study. There are many who at sixteen will be required to leave school to engage in the battle of life as clerks and apprentices. Provided with a cabinet of minerals, some chemical and philosophical apparatus, the principal could profitably devote one afternoon weekly to imparting instruction by lectures on these studies to the whole school. Would it not be well for us to discuss the propriety of something of this kind?

The Currency.

The United States Senate on Monday, 24 to 27, refused to declare that the public debt shall not be increased. The Morrison substitute for the Compromise Finance bill was finally passed; it fixes the amount of greenbacks at $100,000,000, and adds $46,000,000 to the national bank currency; banks are required to keep in their reserve a fourth of their coin interest, and cannot keep more than a fourth of their reserve on deposit in redemption cities, such deposit to be without interest.

Senator Frelinghuysen made a sound speech upon the finance question, in which he said that millions of millions of bonds have been purchased and canceled while the United States notes were inconvertible, and this in violation of the law; "and when I introduced an amendment that we should appropriate only the surplus revenue of the United States toward the fulfillment of that solemn obligation, my friend from Massachusetts (Boutwell) voted against it. There is, sir, an honorable obligation, resting on us, growing out of this violation, if my construction of that law is true, to supply by the sale of bonds some little part of the fund by law devoted to the redemption of United States notes. We have taken unlawfully from the revenues of the country a large amount and applied it to the purchase of interest bearing securities, and should hasten to do a little toward repairing the injury thus done to the country as the holder of the United States notes."

Mr. Niles, a new member from Mississippi, made a very sensible speech, in which he differed from the main body of Southern representatives who have persistently urged the inflation measure. This gentleman said that he came to Washington at the beginning of the session with the idea current in the West and South, that there was not money enough in circulation to do the business of the country; but he has since become convinced, from a careful study of the subject, that further inflation will be prejudicial to the business interests of the country and especially to those of the farmers, planters and laboring classes.

It is not improbable that the President will veto the schemes of inflation which have been or may be passed by Congress.

A Happy Gathering.

On Tuesday evening last the house of our fellow townsman, Mr. D. W. Smith, was unceremoniously invaded by an interested company of friends and relatives. The object of the gathering was to celebrate the birthday anniversary of his excellent wife. What particular birthday was reached on this occasion, becomes not yet known. Mr. Edron, to inquire, nor me to state, as a lady's age is never supposed to be accurately known. Mrs. S. had been spending the day with her sister, Mrs. Hall, and was in complete ignorance of the preparations made to greet her return, and the number of guests who would present their congratulations the moment she would enter her dwelling. She was of course thoroughly amazed to find the hall and parlor thronged with a party of ladies and gentlemen, together with all the members of the family with the exception of one son who resides in Chicago.

The center table was adorned with many tokens of affection consisting mainly of silverware, each piece possessing increased value as an expression of respect and love on the part of the donor. In the midst of this scene of joyous interest, Rev. Dr. Kennedy asked the attention of the company for a moment. Stepping forward, he addressed a few words of personal congratulation to Mrs. Smith, expressing also the pleasure he experienced in being chosen to convey to her, in the name of her children, a slight expression of their devotion to their beloved mother; and then placed on her neck a chain to which was attached a valuable gold watch. The incident was beautiful and touching, and the recipient of this precious token of filial affection was moved with deep and tender emotions.

After a brief space, the guests were invited to partake of a plentiful repast, consisting of viands both substantial and delicate, and crowned with "the cup that cheers, but not inebriates."

The writer cannot but express the conviction that similar scenes might be witnessed with interest and profit in many families in the community.

The vicissitude of public life is manifest in the investigation of the Sanborn business, before the Ways and Means Committee of Congress. Solicitor Banfield was before the Committee on Wednesday and brought matters to a crisis in regard to Secretary Richardson and his Assistant. He asserted most emphatically that he had never prepared a contract or paper involving the signature of the Secretary without previous instructions. Every one of the papers in the contract cases which he prepared were prepared in that way. He never suggested terms of the contracts, rate of compensation, or any person to receive a contract; nor was his advice asked on these matters. The solicitor's statements, although damaging to his own reputation are infinitely more so to that of Richardson, who is already, in effect, deposed from office and will no doubt resign.

The steamer Tigress, of Polar research renown, is reported to have exploded near St. John's on Thursday, involving a loss of twenty-two men.

THE LOCAL NEWS.

Several new houses are going up in Watessing.

Hayes & Taylor have had their sign repainted.

Burglars invaded the East Orange Gazette office last week.

"The Light in the Window," on the first page is good Sunday reading.

Fine table butter is sought after but not always found at this season. William Colfax keeps it.

The former First Church Parsonage has been leased. It is now in process of renovation.

A welcome or unwelcome Guest? We mean Wm. A. of New York, who bought the Montclair Railroad at the Receiver's Sale last week.

The vote for Appropriations at the Montclair election was as follows: For Roads, $1,000. For Poor, $2,000. For Incidentals, $3,500.

Dr. Wm. W. Atterbury preached in the First Presbyterian church last Sunday. Everybody was pleased.

It cost four Bloomfielders fifty cents apiece for dry toast and a cup of coffee at a Paterson hotel last week.

An interesting programme is announced by the Endicott Society for Monday evening at Endicott Hall. It will be open to all.

April Weather. There was thunder and lightning Thursday night. A heavy gale in West Orange did considerable damage.

And now "let Justice be done, though the heavens fall." An editor has been elected to the office of Magistrate in Montclair.

Edward Crogan, stable keeper for R. N. Dodd, had a narrow escape from suffocation by coal gas in his house a day or two ago.

John B. Gough will deliver his new lecture "Now and Then," before the Montclair Library Association on Monday evening, April 27th.

The displacement of the trestle work near Moffet's Rolling Mill, interrupted travel for several hours on the Morris & Essex road this morning.

Minroe Place is filling up quite rapidly, some six or eight of the new houses being already occupied. They are all well-built, neat and convenient dwellings.

Polombet, Polton & Co., manufacturers of Parlor Organs, at Watessing, have recently introduced decided improvements in the exterior finish of their instruments, the cases having been remodelled in various ways, producing a very tasty effect.

Treasurer's report of Ladies' Relief Society for week ending 31st of March, 1874.

Received, Baptist Church collection	$17 68
Disbursements.	12 96
Mrs. A. L. WARD, Treasurer.	$4 72

The Treasurer of the Ladies' Relief Society wishes us to give notice that all accounts against the Society should be sent in at once. The Association has disbanded for the Spring and Summer, and it is desirable to settle all outstanding bills as soon as possible.

Wanted!—Fifty young men of the following description: A few of each kind preferred: Tall and thin; short and fat; smokers and chewers; a few who part their hair in the middle of their craniums and any others who may apply, to stand in front of the M. E. Church, Broad street, to stare the ladies out of countenance as they emerge therefrom. None who apply will be discarded as useless.

P. BRUTTS E.

Mr. Thompson C. Munn, says the East Orange Gazette, has purchased a large tract of land on Arlington Avenue, running through to Walnut and Hamilton streets, and about five acres on the north side of Forest avenue, it being some of the choicest land in the town; the price paid was $20,000. Mr. Munn will probably proceed at once and develop the land and offer some fine building lots for sale.

The entertainments recently given by Enterprize Council O. U. A. M. have become quite popular. Appell's Juvenile Eveningers will give a concert next Monday evening at the Hall of the Council, in Unangst Building, Glenwood avenue. A good time may be expected, from the announced programme, which consists of Quartettes, Solos and dances together with several short pieces entitled, "Smoked Out," "Rival Artists," "Our Boyish Days," etc. The only drawback to be anticipated is the lack of capacity in the Hall to accommodate all who will desire to attend.

Ex-Sheriff James S. Gamble died at his residence in Newark, on Monday night, having been ill about three months. He was sixty-three years of age. When a young man he was a teacher and librarian in the Second Presbyterian Church Sunday School, and was subsequently educated by Hon. Theodore Frelinghuysen at Rutgers College, with the idea of entering the ministry. He subsequently changed his mind, and was employed in the County Clerk's office for several years. He afterwards went to Oregon, became a merchant at Port Orford and was Collector of that port, returning to Newark a number of years ago. He was elected Sheriff in 1872.

Navigation in North Bloomfield.

Mr. Edron.

I understand the Overseer of the Poor has chartered the steam yacht of Mr. C. M. (which ran last summer on Crystal Lake,) to make regular trips to the country seat belonging to the township on upper Morris Lake, during the ensuing season. I hear the craft is to be officered as follows: Capt. J. M.; 1st Engineer, L. C.; 2d do., J. M. C.; Steward, J. W. B.; Surgeon, E. L. M. Chief Gunner, W. S.; Powder-boys, Firemen and Stokers by the "rest of the company." A friend of mine inquires if there will be any outside business done in the freight line. If so he would like to send up, now and then, some empty bottles and demijohns to be filled at the Brookdale cider mill. I suppose all packages will be shipped at the owner's risk. Please answer through THE RECORD.

AMERICUS CLUB.

[Your bibulous friend is too late. If the "steam yacht" carries anything, on its contemplated trips, it will no doubt be the Brookdale mail, which you know is a heavy item.]

CRYSTAL SPRING ICE!

WESLEY B. CORBY, Proprietor.

The Crystal Spring that gently flows
Through flowery banks of evergreen,
Like life it tells us to pursue
A course like this,—so pure, serene.

SUMMER IDYLS.

The poet may write of the wine's rosy cup,
And of its bright virtues may sing.
But sweeter and cooler is the goblet when filled
With Ice from the Crystal Spring.

The winter is past and the bright sunny skies
Soon the roses and violets will bring.
And then in our houses the goblet will fill
With Ice from the Crystal Spring.

Believers of old, at his great royal feast,
When his palace with revel did ring,
Would happier have been, had his goblets been filled
With Ice from the Crystal Spring.

Success to the cup that always does cheer,
And sweet peace and contentment does bring.
For 'Tis the joyous gift there is nothing so pure
As Ice from the Crystal Spring.

The above CRYSTAL ICE, which gave such solid satisfaction to my patrons, will be furnished by me as usual. Orders left at my office, in J. W. Lees' store, Cor. of
